Re: Hawaii Children's Blood and Cancer Group v. Hawaii Pacific Health, et al.; Civil No. 03-00708 SOM/LEK

Dear Mr. Del Castillo and Mr. Robbins:

There may well be an understandable misunderstanding about the handling of correspondence. Mr. Robbins is correct in saying that counsel is not supposed to file correspondence directly into our electronic case file. It is for that reason that our docketing clerk noted that Mr. del Castillo's letters should have been sent directly to me in hard copy, not electronically filed. However, even had Mr. del Castillo not filed the letters electronically, they would have ended up in the electronic case file. That is because each judge determines which letters should and should not go into the electronic case file. My own practice is to designate all correspondence to be in the electronic case file unless the correspondence concerns a matter that must be sealed. My reasoning is that I want the electronic case file to be as usable and complete as possible, with accessibility as great as possible for counsel, unless a matter is sealed.

Mr. Robbins has responded to Mr. del Castillo's letters, and those responses are also electronically accessible.

This court has no motion before it involving the substance of the recent series of letters and therefore has no reason to consider, and does not consider, any negative allegation about any of the attorneys in this case that may be included in any of the letters. Mr. Robbins may rest assured that he remains in good standing before this court. Nor is Mr. del Castillo viewed in an adverse light. The court suggests that all counsel consider the matter closed.

Very truly yours,

Susan Oki Mollway
